

“To say ‘I love you’ one must first know how to say the ‘I.’”

- Ayn Rand-

One Day Seminar

Ayn Rand and the Virtue of Selfishness

~Philosophy to Live Your Own Life~

Guest: Dr. Yaron Brook

Executive Chairman, Ayn Rand Institute

Moderator: Yoichi Tamura

CEO, Metanoia Ltd.

Wed, May 3, 2017

9:30

Doors open

10:00

Start

Agenda

10:00 - 12:30 Part I

Lecture : Philosophy of Ayn Rand & the Virtue of Selfishness

Discussion - “Living a rational life in an irrational society” -

12:30 - 13:30 Lunch

13:30 - 16:00 Part II

Lecture: Inequality, Poverty, and the Role of Government

Discussion - “Why equal is unfair?”

Language: English/Japanese

Maru-biru Conference Square

Marunouchi bldg. 8F Room# 1, 2-4-1 Marunouchi, Tokyo

Admission

10,000 yen

※ 8,000 yen for early registration & payment before 3/31

※ Pre-order lunch box for +1,500 yen

Seats

30 persons

Registration

<http://kokucheese.com/event/index/458165/>

Mail to info@aynrandjapan.org for inquiries

Why do we need philosophy? What does it mean to be “selfish?”

When you don't study philosophy, you are unconsciously bound by implicit social rules and assumptions. Study philosophy, and you're prepared to choose how to live.

Live your life fully. That's what it means to be truly “selfish.”

Without rational philosophy, even self-proclaimed egoists can be driven by feelings of guilt. Knowledge and application of Objectivism, the philosophy of Ayn Rand, can liberate you from fallacies and contradictions.

In this one-day workshop we'll explore how we may benefit from philosophical debate and arguments, to use what we learn to better our lives, organizations, societies, and the world we live in.

Yoichi Tamura

Guest Speaker: Dr. Yaron Brook

Yaron Brook, PhD, is executive chairman of the Ayn Rand Institute. Dr. Brook is coauthor of Equal is Unfair: America's Misguided Fight Against Income Inequality. He was a columnist at forbes.com and is frequently interviewed on national TV and radio. Dr. Brook lectures on objectivism, business ethics and foreign policy throughout the world.

Moderator: Yoichi Tamura

Mr. Yoichi Tamura is an educator and businessman. He is the chief executive at Metanoia Ltd., where he has been engaged in leadership development and organizational consulting. He has been a student of Objectivism and an admirer of Ayn Rand since he discovered the philosophy in 1986. Sophia University BA, University of Virginia MBA.

Ayn Rand (1905-1982)

“I am often asked whether I am primarily a novelist or a philosopher. The answer is: both. In a certain sense, every novelist is a philosopher, because one cannot present a picture of human existence without a philosophical framework. . . . In order to define, explain and present my concept of man, I had to become a” philosopher in the specific meaning of the term.” Ayn Rand, “Preface,” For the New Intellectual

